

George Hutt and his wife Kate. The photograph was taken in 1906 just before his son Alfred, named after his grandfather, went on holiday to his grandparents in Grimsbury. While he was there the other children died in an epidemic, leaving Alfred, the author's father, an only child. To be safe he stayed for some time and went to school in Banbury.