With real objects, costume and role play, this workshop links to history, geography, and STEM subjects.

Key themes:

- Why were canals essential to the Industrial Revolution?
- How do canals work and who built them?
- Where does the Oxford Canal go?
- Who lived and worked on canals in Victorian times?
- What was it like to live on a working boat?
- How did Banbury change during this period?

Learning Outcomes

- Improving knowledge and understanding the Industrial Revolution
- Discovering a key feature of Banbury history
- Understanding people's lives in Victorian times
- Experiencing a Museum environment and learning through objects
- Developing skills in observation, questioning, listening and speaking
- Learning new vocabulary

Adaptations

- Outreach: Ideally this workshop is taught at the Museum, where we have a large number of objects. However, an adapted version can be taught as an outreach workshop at your school – 75 mins teaching time for up to 30 children, cost £90 or £150 for two classes one after the other on the same day.
- SEND: Please get in touch so we can arrange a bespoke session for you.
